Today's preparation determines tomorrow's achievement.

The time for action is now.....

Here are four reasons your prep process requires a January jumpstart.

- 1) More time on task. Starting now, with a tutor or book or class, simply gives you more time to practice. The more you practice, the higher you will score.
- 2) Tackle problem areas. With the luxury of time, you can identify and overcome your problem areas. By starting now, you can spend more time reviewing content and strategy to overcome your weaknesses and still make significant improvement before test day.
- 3) More time for the GATE. Many students take both tests and some perform significantly better on one over the other. Starting preparation now allows you to adequately prepare for and take both tests. And taking both gives you more options for the admissions process.
- 4) Confidence is key. Test anxiety is a major reason for poor performance on these exams. Test cramming contributes to nerves. But students who are well-prepared are more relaxed and confident, which leads to higher scores.
